

UW-Madison Culture of Respect Initiative

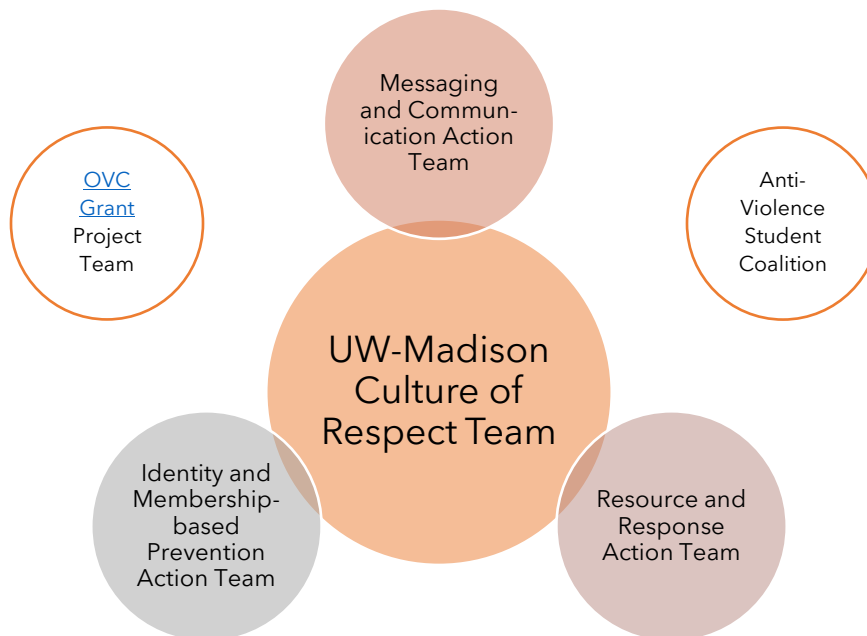

Year One Summary

UW-Madison joined Culture of Respect Collective, a NASPA initiative, in January 2020. The Collective is a two-year program that brings together institutions of higher education who are dedicated to ending campus sexual violence and guides them through a rigorous process of self-assessment and targeted organizational change. Visit the UHS web site or contact Molly Zemke for more information.

Spring 2020	UW-Madison joined the Culture of Respect Collective and formed the UW-Madison Culture of Respect team with over 40 student, staff and faculty representatives from across the campus community.
Summer 2020	The Culture of Respect team completed the CORE Evaluation. The CORE Evaluation is a comprehensive self-assessment survey that inventories efforts to prevent and respond to campus sexual and relationship violence. Results are available here .
Fall 2020	The team utilized the CORE Evaluation results to identify several key focus areas for collective action in year two.

What's next? In year two, the Culture of Respect team has re-structured to focus on action plan development and implementation to address the priority focus areas (see below).

UW-Madison Culture of Respect Leadership Team (Spring 2021)

Brooke Wilczewski, Messaging & Communication Action Team co-lead
Caitlyn LoMonte, Identity and Membership-based Prevention Action Team co-lead
Eli Tsarovsky, Anti-Violence Student Coalition representative
Jennifer Horace, Resource and Response Action Team lead
Kate Walsh, Messaging & Communication Action Team co-lead and OVC Grant Project Team representative
Maggie Hayes, Identity and Membership-based Prevention Action Team co-lead
Molly Zemke, CoR Team lead

Support staff: Alex Nelson, Chynna Lewis, Nola Pastor, Nona Gronert (UHS Violence Prevention)

